REDWOOD CITY, SAN MATEO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1929.

REDWOOD MAN FILES STATES SHORTEST WILL

What is declared to be one of the shortest wills on record in this state was filed in San Francisco Wednesday in the court of Superior Judge Thomas F. Graham. The will was presented by Joseph Dickey of this city through his attorney, James T. O'Keefe.

The will is that of William J. Cook, Crescent City auto camp operator, and bequeaths his estate of $9000 to his wife, Mrs. Anna C. Cook. It was written on a post card and read: "At death I, William J. Cook, will and bequeath all my real and personal property to my wife, Anna C. Cook."

Mrs. Cook is a sister of Joseph Dickey of this city, who is serving as administrator with the will annexed of the estate of her husband. Mrs. Cook is at present living here with her brother and family. She was formerly a resident of Woodside.

Christmas Plans Near Completion Interesting Features Planned For Dec. 10

The committee from the chamber of commerce which is making plans for the Christmas celebration here has many interesting features under way for this celebration, according to J. P. Hearn, chairman of the committee. The committee Hearn states, has fixed Tuesday evening, December 10, as open house night and this will be the big night of the celebration.

Prior to this time the streets will be decorated. Arrangements have been made to have Main street, Broadway and some of the principal side streets decorated with redwood branches.

A contest has been arranged in window decorating by the stores, banks and all commercial institutions, and a large silver cup will be presented to the establishment whose window are most artistically decorated.

On Tuesday, December 10, five groups of carol singers will sing Christmas songs in various sections, and the group which is adjudged the best will also be presented with a large silver cup.

The plans of the committee will make the Christmas celebration this year one of the best in the history of Redwood City, according to Hearn, and it is expected that a record crowd from all sections of the county will be here on this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. Warner and two daughters, Evelyn and Marjorie of Santa Barbara, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Warner of Warwick street last week. Mr. Warner came north for the Scot's convention in San Francisco.

Y. M. I. To Meet Fast Players Here Sunday

Local Team To Clash
With Hottentots
From City

Next Sunday the Redwood Y. M. I. football team will meet the Hottentots, the junior team of the Olympic Club. This team is rated as one of the fastest amateur teams of the bay district and a good game is sure to result. The local team has won practically every game so far and football fans are looking forward to Sunday's tussle.

Last Sunday the Y. M. I. boys held the Oakland American Legion team to a scoreless tie. The game was full of action and both teams were in good condition. The players were evenly matched, however, and neither could score against the other.

The players who will participate Sunday are:

Y. M. I.	Hottentots
Baxter	L. E. Perpol
McGrath	L. T. Pena
Hood	L. G. Hosford
Roeschle	(c) Center
Gray	R. G. O'Brien
E. Berlin	R. T. Hinman
Roberts	R. E. Shine
Plaet	Q. Gibson
Mullen	R. H. Jansing
Zabriske	L. H. Hutchinson
Sagues	F. Dams

Reserves—Carey, Knudsen, Sarriene, F. Berlin, Goldman, Maughan, R. Richter, Hogan, Hotteling, Williams, Knudsen, Hamilton.

Reserves—Koehl, Romero, Cullen, Jourdain, Ryan, Carus, Corlori.

The evenness with which the two teams are matched is shown in the fact that each team has played 10 games this year, and each has lost one. Santa Rosa beat the Hottentots by a score of 7 to 6, and the local team by a score of 6 to 0. Both the Y. M. I. and the Hottentot team have held the San Francisco Eagles to a scoreless tie.

STUDENTS TO AID ON THANKSGIVING

By WAWONA WASHBURN.
Continuing the policy which has been carried on for the past three years, Sequoia high school will again provide needy families with Thanksgiving day gift boxes. Twenty families have been chosen by the social service commission of San Mateo county as the recipients of the special boxes.

The families vary from 1 to 9 persons in each, with every first period class having one family for whom they must furnish the contents of the gift boxes. On an average, ten students will supply gifts for each member of the families.

Chairmen from each class room were elected yesterday. These students will have charge of the Thanksgiving boxes in their respective rooms. All boxes must be ready for distribution by 9:30 Wednesday morning, November 27.

WOODSIDE

The ancient jitney bus that has been the connecting link between Woodside and Redwood City has been retired. Shivering and trembling from head-lamps to rear axle the venerable vehicle with a life full of years and of miles was taken over the route for the last time on Saturday night. In its place, A. A. Hosford, proprietor of the bus line, has installed a late model suburban wagon, insuring to his passengers, speed, comfort and style.

The bazaar and card party held at the P-T. A. hall on Wednesday night proved a financial as well as a social success. The grand prize, a twenty pound turkey was won by Officer Wycoff of the Woodside police force.

The Woodside Fire Department will hold a whist party at the P-T. A. hall on Tuesday evening, November 26th. Poultry will be the prize in each event. Admission $5c, refreshments free.

Mrs. Sarah Hayes returned on Tuesday from Los Gatos where she has been for several weeks visiting with her daughter and convalescing from her recent illness.

The Woodside grade is receiving some kindly and timely attention from the road department. Curves are being widened and improvements made where possible. The old road is so far gone, however that little can be done to it short of complete rebuilding. Any attempt to save it now is like shoring up the walls of a building already beginning to collapse.

A great deal of structural steel has gone over the road for use in the theater being constructed on the Whittell place. This is the first steel frame building to be constructed in Woodside and looks quite like a city building project.

Liquor Seized In City Police Raid

A police posse, headed by Chief of Police G. L. Collins, on Wednesday raided the establishment of Peter Japita at 334 Main street. As the result of the raid Japita was arrested and 500 gallons of wine were confiscated. After being booked at the jail on a charge of illegal possession of liquor and an added charge of battery, Japita was released on $500 cash bail for the former charge and $25 cash bail for the second offense.

Bus Lines Apply For Permit On Bayshore Road

An application has been filed with the railroad commission by the Peninsula Rapid Transit Company for permission to run a bus line from San Mateo to San Francisco over the Bayshore highway. A similar application was filed by the Pacific Auto Stages, Inc.

It is the purpose of both lines to carry passengers from the Potrero district in San Francisco down the peninsula. The lines would connect with South San Francisco, San Bruno and with Mills Field.

Heavy Weight Basketball Year Starts Soon

By RAY DIXON.
Sequoia High opened its heavy-weight basketball season when Coach Frank Griffin called for candidates for the 130-pound basketball teams Tuesday. With 22 boys already signed up and more expected as soon as the 130's football is over, the unlimiteds will not turn out until Monday.

Coach Griffin bases strong hopes on his thirties which are mainly composed of seasoned veterans. Those who will probably make the first squad are Jack Morgan, Jens Bugge, George Shine, Dudd Dillard, Carl Britschgi and Tom McCarthy. Morgan, Britschgi and Shine have all captained former basketball five while Dillard has been on four other Cherokee hoop squads.

The team should be strengthened by the good reserve material which will probably come in Paul Silva, Elmer West, Don Lowe, Al Langbehn, Jim Flynn and several stars not yet through with the thirties football.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE TO MEET AT SEQUOIA HIGH

For the second time Sequoia Union High School will act as hostess to the San Mateo County Teachers' Institute on the first day of Institute week, December 16.

"Our plans are just about completed," stated Miss Genevieve Wurzbach, chairman of the teachers' institute committee. "We hope to make everyone feel completely at home while here at Sequoia," Miss Wurzbach added.

Teachers will attend lectures in the auditorium during the morning hours of their visit to Sequoia. Luncheon will be served the guests in the new cafeteria. The special speakers, however, will have their luncheon in the girls' club room.

In the afternoon members of the student hospitality committee will conduct visitors through the high

Co-operation Asked During Game Traffic

Police Ask People To Trade During Morning

The co-operation of the citizens of Redwood City, and particularly the housewives in connection with the handling of traffic for the "Big Game" at Stanford tomorrow afternoon is being urged by Chief of Police G. L. Collins. Housewives and others are asked to do their shopping either in the morning on Saturday or between 2:30 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The heaviest traffic in the history of the peninsula is expected on Saturday with some 30,000 cars going to and from Stanford. The peak hour of the traffic will be from 11 a. m. to 2:30 p. m., before the game and from 5 to 7 in the evening, after the game. The two hours and a half in the afternoon, while the game is in progress and when the traffic is lightest, will afford the housewives sufficient time to do their shopping. If they will take advantage of the opportunity.

Chief Collins and the men of his department are co-operating with the state officers and other officials of the peninsula in handling the traffic on the highway and getting the people attending the big game back to their homes in San Francisco and elsewhere as quickly as possible.

Santa Claus May Return Here Soon

Santa Claus paid a flying visit to Redwood City last Tuesday evening and greeted hundreds of little boys and girls at the J. P. Hearn dry goods store. Santa Claus had planned to say a word or two with each little one, but it was soon evident that the number of children who wished to shake hands with the old fellow would make this impossible. During the short time that he was in town, Santa Claus gave away a thousand bags of candy.

In order that those who had not the opportunity to meet the genial old chap on this visit may do, he will make an effort to return to Redwood City at some time before Christmas. As December 10 will be open house night for the merchants of Redwood City it is likely that Santa Claus will pick on this night to return to the Hearn dry goods store.

Fire Sweeps Along Coast Near Miramar

Worst Brush Fire In County's History
Raging

One of the worst fires in the history of this county was blazing yesterday on the western side of the San Mateo range between Miramar and Moss Beach. The fire was sweeping over large sections of the Spring Valley Water Company property and endangering the splendid stands of virgin timber on the western side of Pillaritos lake.

The greatest damage reported up to yesterday was the destruction of a large tract of standing timber on the properties of the El Grano, a Holding Co. Several houses have been endangered by the flames, but so far reports from the burned area state that the large group of men who are busy combating the fires have been able to save any residences in the path of the flames.

Three men, Harry Danerl, Frank Madona and Frank J. Bernardo, all members of the Halfmoon Bay Gun Club, were trapped in a canyon by the flames, while hunting in the hills. They were saved by a crew of men working under Constable Simmons.

So severe was the fire peril that the Halfmoon Bay High School closed down in order that the boys of the school might aid in fighting the flames. All deputy fire wardens in the county were called to assist Deputy Sheriff Ed Farrell of this city who took a crew of men from this side of the hills to aid in the work.

LETTERS ASKED IN BARTLETT ESTATE

H. E. Higgins on Tuesday applied for letters of administration in the estate of Mrs. Marie P. Bartlett, who passed away in Buffalo, New York, last May. The petition was filed by his attorney, James T. O'Keefe of this city. The estate consists of property valued at about $500 in this county. A nephew and two nieces all residing in New York are the heirs.

Sequoia Team Takes Debate

By ANDY BRIGHT.
Thelma Hovevill and Bill Binkley accounted for a 3-0 victory for the Sequoia Union High School debating team which upheld the affirmative in a debate against Girls High of San Francisco in the Little Theatre at the high school. The question was: "Resolved that compulsory automobile liability insurance should be established in the state of California."

Edward Blasdel and Gene Peterson, who journeyed to San Francisco to represent Sequoia on the other side of the same question, also made a good showing. Although there were no judges, Edward was the unanimous choice of the coaches for the best individual speaker in the debate at Girls High.

Twelve members of the debate class accompanied the team to the city and were shown around the school, and later had lunch in their student cafeteria, after which they hurried home to be here in time for the other debate.

Thelma Hovevill won the votes of all three judges here for the best individual speaker. Her clearness in presenting her issues and her inability to be side tracked from the main contentions in her rebuttal was the reason given for their decision by the judges who were Mrs. E. L. Kilbourne, Rev. C. E. Winning, and Mrs. Charles Rider, all of Redwood City.

By the sale of property on the courthouse steps by the sheriff on Wednesday three prominent figures in American history were brought out. The property was owned by Thomas Jefferson and it was sold under the sheriff's hammer to Jeff Davis. The property is located on Lincoln avenue. The unusual coincidence brings to mind the three big men of history.

Suicide Try Ends Futilly For Killer

Ira Kirk Will Stand
Trial Before Jury
Here

If a jury in Judge Buck's court decides that Ira Kirk, confessed murderer of Miss Clara Boeke, San Francisco school teacher, shall hang, he may hang, but not before. Plans for a private execution in his cell, with himself in the role of executioner, were definitely halted Tuesday when a rope made by tearing a blanket into strips and tying the pieces together was found beneath his couch, and Kirk was removed to a padded cell until his trial is over.

The discovery of the improvised rope was made by Deputy Sheriff Timothy O'Rourke. Kirk was in the act of showing the rope to two visitors at his cell when O'Rourke noticed it from the passage way in front of the cell and investigated.

Kirk admitted that the rope was for suicide if his preliminary hearing Tuesday was not satisfactory. The hearing was held in Burlingame before Justice of the Peace Percy Jackson. It ended in Kirk being held to answer for the murder of the San Francisco girl before the Superior Court of this county.

In addition to officers from this county and from San Francisco county who arrested Kirk and with him went to where Miss Boeke was killed, Dr. F. S. Gregory of this city was called as a witness. Dr. Gregory was called upon to examine the body of the murdered woman, and testified as to the cause of death, which he stated was a knife wound in her neck which cut her throat.

Inquest Held
County Coroner J. C. McGovern yesterday held an inquest into the death of Clara Boeke at the parlors of Layne & Tinney. Dr. Gregory was called to testify as to his findings and was followed by Officer Dolan of the San Francisco police department. It was Dolan who with Corporal Ward, also of the San Francisco police, arrested Kirk at the Elliot garage, where he was in the act of renting a car to bring the murdered girl's sister to San Carlos on the pretext that he had Clara Boeke kidnapped in a deserted shack near San Carlos.

The officers did not know that the girl had been killed until Kirk pointed out her body near the Devonshire clubhouse. Kirk was put on the stand and admitted killing Miss Boeke. He declared that he did not remember when the desire to kill her first came to him. He maintained his unrepentant appearance throughout the inquest.

Arraigned Here
Judge Buck set yesterday afternoon as the time for arraignment. At this time Thursday of next week was set as time for entering a plea. District Attorney Swart read a telegram from the defendant's brother, R. D. Kirk of Texas, who is an attorney. The brother expressed great surprise at the fact that his brother was charged with murder, and stated that in Texas he always had had a very good reputation. He is coming to this city to assist in the defense of his brother.

James T. O'Keefe of this city was appointed by the court to defend the prisoner.
All Road Will Lead To
Stanford Tomorrow
Over 90,000 fans will visit the great bowl to witness the annual contest between Stanford and U. C. It promises to be the largest crowd that has ever visited the stadium. Plans are in progress to take care of the large gathering. A system has been organized whereby there will be no congestion of automobiles and very little delay experienced in leaving the grounds after the game.

Mrs. Guy R. Kennedy and Mrs. Wellington Bray are in charge of the card party of the Redwood City Woman's Club for the afternoon of December 12. Playing starts at 2:30.

EXCHANGITES HEAR TALK ON CUSTOMS IN FOREIGN COURTS

A most interesting talk was given Tuesday evening before members of the Redwood City Exchange Club by Bob Littler, of this city. Littler, who is a graduate of Stanford University and was during his time there president of the Stanford student body and one of the star debaters of that institution, has travelled extensively through Europe. His talk Tuesday evening was on the customs and governments of Europe. He described the legal procedure of England and France, and told of the many customs retained from early times by these countries. The dry procedure of court routine was spiced with many humorous incidents.

Tom Kane, manager of Sequoia Theatre was present and spoke of plans his house has for the Christmas party for the kiddies of Redwood City, which will be held in December. This event will be held by the Sequoia Theatre in conjunction with the Exchange Club. The members of the Exchange Club committee working on this affair are John Garland, Edmund Scott, Stanley Netherton, Wilbur Dooxee and Albert Davies.

An added feature of the Tuesday evening's meeting was a solo by Adolph Kenney.

The chairman of the meeting was Harvey Conner.

Blame for Crash Put On Car Driver

Operator Exonerated
Of Responsibility
At Inquest

Inquests were held at the parlors of Deputy Coroner S. Neri at South San Francisco Tuesday evening for Mike Messina and for Mrs. J. P. Deenbrook, both killed in an automobile and bus collision at Lawndale late last Thursday. "Criminal negligence" on the part of Messina was blamed in both cases for the accident.

Messina, proprietor of the Poodle Dog restaurant in San Jose, was going south on the highway, witness testified. Persons whose car he had passed just before the collision with the bus testified that he was traveling at a high rate of speed and was dodging in and out through the traffic on the highway. The bus, according to the several witnesses to the crash, was on its own side of the road when Messina's car swerved over from the other side of the highway and struck the left front corner of the bus and tore along the side of the heavy machine injuring nine passengers on the bus and the driver. Messina was instantly killed as was also Mrs. Deenbrook, a bus passenger.

Fred Alpen, driver of the bus was freed of all blame for the crash by the coroner's jury. Messina was found to have come to his death from a crushed chest and Mrs. Deenbrook from a broken neck. Funeral services were held Tuesday in San Jose for the restaurant man. Services for Mrs. Deenbrook are being delayed awaiting the arrival of her husband now on his way from New York.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

Tourists are flocking into Sequoia National Park this fall. The park's official season starts October 1 each year, and the October figures on registration show an increase of 47 per cent over the same month in 1928.

Cement lined pipe is used for the first time in Stockton in $30,000 water mains under two main streets, El Dorado and Fremont. According to H. K. Griffin, district manager for the California Water Service Company, the new pipes prevent rust.

Plans are being prepared by Architect W. H. Weeks, of San Francisco, for a one-story brick grammar school building for the Woodland School District. It will contain eight class rooms and an auditorium and will cost about $68,000.

Alleging that Stanford University is exempt from state inheritance taxes, the university filed objections to charges of $26,627 against a legacy of $39,212.73, which Mrs. Mary D. Barbaque bequeathed to Dr. Harold P. Hill for use in the medical department of Stanford University.

One of the most drastic steps to curtail production of heavy crude oil in Kern County was taken when several of the major operators on the Kern front district shut down their flowing and pumping wells in the field 100 per cent. This curtailment, after more than a year's wide open production in the field, will affect a daily production estimated at from 18,000 to 20,000 barrels a day.

Scientists at the University of California were making plans to "go on location" near Camptownville, Yuba County, to observe the total eclipse of the sun which is scheduled to take place April 28, 1930. A temporary observatory will be established for the purpose. Assistant Astronomer H. M. Jeffers is now engaged in computing the exact latitude and longitude of possible sites.

A $500,000 expansion project for the Fresno city fire department was contained in plans presented to Mayor Z. B. Leymel by Fire Chief W. Ralph Williams. The proposal calls for 478 new fire alarm boxes in areas considered in an annexation move, and construction of five new fire houses. Williams will spread the program over a period of ten years, he reported, making the initial outlay of $47,800 for alarm boxes and $150,000 for three new fire houses.

Napa State Hospital for the Insane, with a medical, nursing and maintenance staff of 400, adds $250,000 to the yearly payroll of Napa, Dr. Charles E. Stason, medical superintendent, stated recently. The state has invested $4,000,000 in buildings and equipment at the institution, which is on grounds covering 2200 acres. It has an independent drinking and fire protection water supply in the nearby hills and raises most of the food served to the 2000 patients under treatment for mental disorders.

Viasia recently received official word from Washington that the national geographic board had accepted the Viasia suggestion that an unnamed Sequoia National Park mountain be called Mount George Stewart, in honor of Colonel George W. Stewart of Viasia and Sacramento. Unofficially, Stewart received the honor at Viasia last June on authorization from Washington following the naming of the mountain by the California geographic board. Mount George Stewart is 12,303 feet high.

Unlicensed contractors can not claim the benefits of a lien in California, courts. Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled for H. C. Morgan, executive secretary of the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards. The department estimates there are more than 50,000 building contractors in the State of which less than 20 per cent are licensed, according to the 1929 legislative act. The Attorney General's decision places more than 40,000 contractors on an illegal basis without the rights of protection from the courts. Material dealers, however, are protected under the lien law when materials are sold to unlicensed contractors.

Nature is doing for California what years of careful plantation study and nurturing by experts is having difficulty to accomplish, declared M. B. Pratt, state forester, in describing the reforestation work now in progress in North Carolina, where he attended the recent session of the National Association of State Foresters. Pratt said that Californians must go out of the state into the East and South before they can realize the value to the state of the second growth timber. North Carolina's program was begun in 1890 and even without the serious fire problem that exists in the West, the advancement has been slow. Twenty-nine states represented at the party recognized the priority of the West in reforestation of funds from the Clark-McNary act appropriations.

A slash of $300,000 annually in rates charged by the Southern Sierra Power Company in Imperial and San Bernardino counties was ordered by the State Railroad Commission. The commission ruled that the company was charging an exorbitant rate in Imperial County, where it has no competition.

The State Railroad Commission has authorized the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company to abandon three agencies at Corte Madera, Ross and Kentfield, with the provision that trains carrying express matter serve the three towns.

The State Department of Finance approved a $20,000 emergency allowance for fire prevention work by the State Division of Forestry. State Forester M. B. Pratt asked for additional funds due to the long fire season occasioned by lack of rain.

John Hendrick of Sonoma, shot at a bear and uncovered the animal and knocked a piece of rock out of the croppings with his bullet. Just to see how far it has missed him, he investigated and found the ball had broken off a piece of quartz containing considerable visible gold.

The bureau of medicine and surgery at Washington is in favor of spending $28,000 for additions to the nurses' headquarters at the Mare Island Hospital, according to advices received at the navy yard. The present quarters are not large enough to house the nurses.

Modesto building permits totaled $95,250 during the month of October, according to figures just released by Hiram E. Gregg, city clerk. This was the second highest month of the year in the amount of permits, March leading with $131,000 in permits granted.

There is a need of two airports in the city of Fresno, according to Sedric Brown of the Maddux Airlines Company, who is supervising a $4000 program of improvements at the old Fresno airport. If the company moves its headquarters to the new Chandler municipal field the old port will be used for a flying school.

Modesto bank clearings totaled $15,948,822.16 during October, according to figures released by the Modesto Clearing House Association. Debits during the month were $7,570,270, and net clearings were $8,378,552.16.

Prompt action by Congress on the recommendation of army engineers for erection of a 13,000 foot breakwater at Monterey, Cal., will be sought at the December session, Senator Shortridge announced. The project would cost $600,000 with $19,000 spent annually on its maintenance.

California's original "stop" sign, a large rock behind which Black Bart, famous highwayman, stood in holding up coaches on the Sonoma-Millerton road years ago, is to be preserved as an historical relic. The stone is on the property of Frank Perl, who offered it to anyone who would take it away. The Angels Camp Booster Club has decided to acquire the stone.

A new city pound for Redwood City was brought a step nearer with the receipt of a check for $5,000 by the city manager from Mrs. Marguerite Doe Courtney, formerly of Santa Barbara but now en route to Africa. The check was mailed from London. Mrs. Courtney's mother, Mrs. J. Sanborn Doe of San Francisco, is the founder of the San Francisco Dog and Cat Hospital.

Teachers who play hockey from teachers' institute hereafter will be "in bad" with the Board of Education and will forfeit their salaries for the days they absent themselves from this important institution. With meetings scheduled for all parts of the state in the next few months, the California legislative water investigation committee will open its campaign late in November. Unified support of a co-ordinated flood control, salinity control and irrigation program will be sought. Rapid progress is being made in developing a new highway route which will lead from San Francisco, Oakland and other bay cities, across the state and over the Sierras to Nevada, by way of the Yuba pass, first to open in the spring and last to close in the winter. The new route will be by way of Woodland, across the Sutter basin road, which is now being graveled; to Marysville and hence east over Yuba County roads now being surfaced with an oil mix to Downsville, Sierra City and the federal Yuba Pass highway.

Building and loan business of California, thriving and increasing rapidly, is going on the same restrictive basis as now applies to banks, Charles T. Whitmore, building and loan commissioner, announced recently. While applications to set up new associations are received almost daily, only those which have endorsement as destined to serve the need of their particular communities are to be licensed in the future, Whitmore said. Purchase of capital stock on an installment basis has been stopped and organization expense cut to a maximum of $5 per share under Whitmore's regime, now six months old. "There has been difficulty in drawing the line between agency and branch associations," the commissioner said. "Tendency has been to establish agencies which in fact do branch business, whereas an increase of $25,000 in capital stock is necessary before a branch can be established."

The city council members had received the budget of Stockton as presented by City Manager Walter B. Hogan, copies of which are available for the public. The budget for 1930 shows an increase over 1929. The total is $1,608,134, as compared to $1,570,619 for 1929.

POULTRY FACTS

HEAT AND LIGHT MEAN MORE EGGS

Maintain Feed Consumption in Sudden Cold Spells.

Heat and light in the hen house mean more eggs when eggs are high in price. And the purpose of both heating and lighting is to keep the laying hen eating as much feed as she can be persuaded to take.

No slump in egg production is likely to accompany a sudden cold snap if the normal feed consumption is maintained, according to the poultry husbandry department of the Ohio State university. One method of controlling the temperature is through insulation of the chicken-house. This, however, may nearly double the cost of the structure. Some poultry men are finding that by placing brooder stoves in the laying houses and firing them during the extremely cold weather, they can sufficiently raise the temperature. In case neither insulation nor artificial heat is practicable, the poultry specialists recommend the feeding of small quantities of milk-moistened mash and small quantities of grain, at frequent intervals during the day.

When artificial lights are used to increase egg production, they should not be used to give more than a total of 14 hours of light a day. Failure to supply lights regularly, or to provide water and feed when the lights go on, also give bad results.

Poultry Tuberculosis Widespread in Spots

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Tuberculosis in poultry flocks has been found much more prevalent than was suspected, and in many counties, especially in some of the North Central states, the disease is present to a greater or less extent in about 70 per cent of the flocks, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Tuberculosis birds show loss of vigor and flesh, lameness, swollen joints, drooping, and general unthriftiness. T. B. in poultry can be definitely diagnosed by a post-mortem or by the tuberculin test given by a veterinarian.

If the disease is discovered in the poultry flock, all diseased birds should be immediately killed and burned, and the remaining fowls over one year old should be marketed. The chicken house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, and moved to clean ground. Lots and runways should be plowed up and seeded to some grain crop, and a new start made on clean ground with young healthy, vigorous birds of good breeding. Avian tuberculosis is doubly harmful in that it affects swine as well as poultry.

Number of Elemental Eggs Developed by Hen

A pullet at maturity has a certain number of elemental eggs which may be developed. Counts at the Maine experiment station show from 1,000 to 3,500. More recent investigations show even greater numbers. There are always a great many more elemental eggs than any hen is capable of developing.

The rapidity with which eggs are developed will depend upon the hen's inherited ability to produce eggs and upon the feed and management of the flock.

Profits from the flock will depend upon securing as many eggs as possible during the first couple of years of each hen's life.

Poultry Hints

Crowding at the feed hopper stunts the growth of chicks.

Lameness is one of the first symptoms of tuberculosis in poultry.

Keep the nonlayers out of the flock by culling out birds with yellow beaks and shanks.

If the hens are kept indoors throughout the winter, they should be given cod liver oil as a substitute for sunshine.

The majority of poultry buyers are now refusing to buy any poultry that is diseased or which is not in condition to be put in fattening pens.

Much of the recent experimental work shows a benefit in the health of the hens, and especially on the hatchability of the eggs, if the birds have free range all winter.

Crowded houses cause many good birds to become pale faced and later join the cull class.

Turkeys may die of black head at any time from three weeks old to three or more years. The only safe way is to keep young turkeys on clean ground away from chickens and old turkeys.

Pullets should be placed in the laying house when they show signs of being nearly ready to lay. The comb and wattles begin to enlarge and take on a bright red color.

A platform or dropping board built from six to eight inches below the level of the roosts is one of the biggest sanitary improvements we can make in any poultry house. Serious diseases, such as tuberculosis and cholera, as well as all kinds of worms, are spread through the droppings.

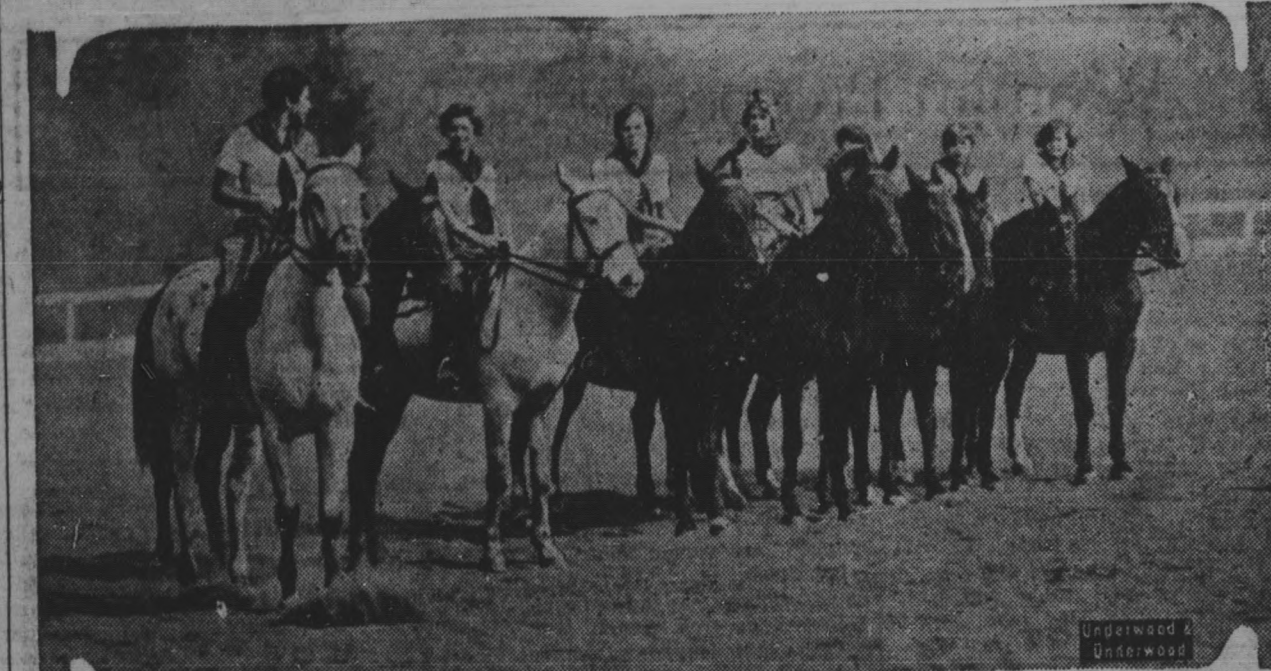

The litter in the house should be changed every two weeks, especially when the birds are under confinement, because this litter often becomes contaminated, and in the way passes disease from one bird to another.

Destroyed Dollars

Dollars, represented by property, die when fire destroys. Whether the blaze consumes a great tract of forest or a one-car garage, it means a permanent economic loss. The money invested can never again work to produce profits. It is definitely and literally dead.

This is a direct loss. The indirect loss, in waste of time and unemployment, may be even greater. The tax that would be paid on a destroyed building is reassessed against other citizens. The rates charged by insurance companies are determined by the aggregate average fire loss. Every citizen in the community pays for every fire. Something that contributed its share, large or small, to progress and social or industrial development, has been totally destroyed. Instead of an asset, it becomes an expense.

These are simple matters, but they are seldom realized. A few minutes' thought must bring home to every citizen the appalling danger of our gigantic annual fire waste. Thrift, industry, saving, hope—fire destroys them in the flickering of an eye. And the bill is charged against the national pocket-book.

Be Thankful

Thank your competitor for having kept you on the jump, thank your preacher for having told you some of your faults, thank yourself for your willingness to toil and think clearly, thank your Lord for your health, happiness and friendship for those about you.

Let us not suppose, however, that Thanksgiving is intended only to extend thanks for material prosperity. We enjoy many blessings that have little to do with wealth or poverty. They abound in everyday life, and many of them are enjoyed by millions of men and women together, but, individually, at the same time.

Moses really instituted the first Thanksgiving day by issuing this splendid proclamation to the children of Israel: "After thou hast gathered in the corn and thy wine thou shalt rejoice thy feast, thou and thy son, and thy daughter, the Levite and the stranger, the fatherless and the widow that are with in thy gates."

Just Another Day

IT'S all right for the preacher to rake the congregation over the coals on Sunday, but with so many at work during the week, folks are so used to it they don't pay much attention when the preacher lights in.

Dickenson Takes

Lead In Punting

By Andy Bright

Bob Dickenson staged an upset when he took first place in the punting contest for the Bob Murphy trophy yesterday when the finals were held. The contest which was among members of the football team only was a close one and Bob was only two feet.

The rules governing the contest were that each member kick five times and the one with the highest average kick won. To qualify for the finals an average of 105 feet was required. Of the eight who qualified in the preliminaries, five contested for the trophy. Gordon Pardee accounted for the longest and the shortest kicks in the contest with punts of 35 and 164 feet respectively.

A summary of the results:
Contestant Average Kick
Bob Dickenson 153 feet
Pete Lawler 132 feet
Frank Goldwaite 130 feet
Gordon Pardee 127 feet
Robert Clancy 118 feet

Edison—Humanity's Friend
Redwood Man
Writes Upon
So. American
Citrus Fruits

Recently the whole world paid tribute to Thomas A. Edison, who has been aptly described as "humanity's friend." The occasion was the celebration of "Light's Golden Jubilee"—the fiftieth anniversary of the perfecting by Mr. Edison of the incandescent lamp.

One of the finest tributes that has been paid to Mr. Edison was by Arthur J. Palmer. We are going to presume to quote a part of this tribute as follows:

"He has led no armies into battle—he has conquered no countries—he has enslaved no people—yet he wields a power the magnitude of which no warrior ever dreamed. He commands a devotion more sweeping in scope, more world-wide than any other living man—a devotion rooted deep in human gratitude, and untainted by bias of race, color, religion or politics.

"This democratic, kindly, modest being has bestowed upon the human race blessings instead of bondage, service instead of serfdom, construction instead of conquest. Possessed of an immeasurable breadth of vision, his world-aspect comprehends people rather than people, masses rather than men."

Think In Dollars, Not Cents,
Advises Creator of "Jiggs"

"Reach for a dollar instead of a cent." George McManus, noted comic artist and creator of Jiggs in "Binging Up Father," believes this is the secret of modern success. The conventional old formulas for getting rich would never make the grade nowadays, he declares in The American Magazine, telling how the principle he worked out with his father operated.

"One day, aged four, I wanted a stick of candy and said, 'Pop, give me a penny.' Instead he gave me a boot in the rompers and some excellent advice," writes McManus. "Never say, give me a penny. Say give me a dollar. Boys who ask for pennies lack ambition. It takes copper a long time to turn green," the artist quotes his paternal ancestor as saying, adding, "From the day Pop gave me that fictitious dollar, pennies have been off my list."

McManus created "Bringing Up Father" from a character he had seen at a vaudeville theatre back home, adding Mrs. Jiggs, Dinty Moore and other characters out of his own imagination. In the theatrical section of New York there was an unpretentious bar and lunchroom where corned beef and cabbage was a specialty. The proprietor's name was Jim Moore. Soon the place began to take on an air of prosperity and McManus one day found Jim with a diamond as big as a walnut in his shirt. The public had fastened upon him the name of "Dinty" Moore and fortune had poured in upon him all because of the advertising unwittingly given him by McManus' cartoons.

"And that, kind friends, is the million I made," says the artist. "Pop was right. There are millions in art. But not for the artist."

America's Foremost
Holiday

Of all the holidays observed in America, none is so distinctly American as Thanksgiving.

It is a legacy of the Pilgrims cherished because of the romance and traditions that surround it.

The origin of the day we now celebrate must be attributed to Governor Bradford of Plymouth.

After landing in 1620 the Pilgrims suffered many privations for a year until the seed they had planted grew in abundance—in answer to their prayers. To celebrate their thankfulness they invited neighboring Indians to a Thanksgiving feast. The festival lasted nearly a week, and included entertainment in the form of athletic exhibitions of prowess.

For many years thereafter the Pilgrims celebrated a certain day of the year as Thanksgiving Day—no particular day of the year was set aside, however.

October 3, 1789, Washington issued a proclamation appointing Thursday, November 26, 1789, as a day of general thanksgiving.

In 1864, Lincoln issued a proclamation to the effect that the last Thursday in November should be observed as Thanksgiving Day. This has since always been observed.

EDITOR'S NOTE—California producers must maintain their present high grades and standards if they are to compete in the fruit markets of the world, according to Dudley Moulton of this city, who is horticultural commissioner of San Francisco. Moulton, with Assemblyman Van Bernard of Butte City, recently returned from a 3-months' tour of South America as "trade scouts" for California. This article is the third of a series.

By DUDLEY MOULTON
(Written for the United Press)
SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18—(UP)—Development of citrus fruits in the South American countries is well worth the closest study of citrus growers of California.

The original navel orange trees planted at Riverside, Cal., were brought from Bahia, Brazil, and this country is a natural place for extensive development of citrus fruits.

Oranges are found in abundance everywhere and bananas are the common cheap fruits. Coffee has been and is Brazil's greatest industry but over-production and manipulation of exports has caused great depression in the market and the accumulation of millions of bags in storage. Coffee planters are shifting to more diversified farming and many have turned to planting citrus trees.

A government report just issued places the number of bearing orange trees in Brazil at 7,830,000 with additional new plantings of 6,000,000 trees which will come into bearing within the next five years. The government nursery will supply 100,000 grapefruit trees annually for the next several years.

We witnessed the unloading of a shipload of oranges in the harbor of Buenos Aires. This was a small river steamer which had gathered the fruit somewhere up the Parana river. The oranges were loaded like so much coal. They were being scooped into large baskets, lifted and placed on the heads of stevedores and carried ashore where they were dumped into great two-wheeled carts. In the markets they were unloaded and heaped in piles 6 to 7 feet deep, or placed in baskets, crates and used grain bags for distribution.

The fruit was sunburned, russeted, scarred or infested with scale insects and offered for sale without grading or selection. They were mostly seedlings, but had many seeds and much center pulp. They were very juicy, but without the pungent orange flavor of our California fruits.

We inspected two car lots of oranges at Rio de Janeiro which had been packed for export to Europe but instead were being shipped to Buenos Aires. The oranges had been in the hot cars for 24 hours. Some were riper and softer than others, and we found two that were half rotten. The boxes and wrappers in the other shipment were wet as though drenched with water, and in ideal condition to develop blue mold or decay.

Exports to Europe had stopped suddenly a month prior to our arrival in Rio. Losses of from 30 to 50 per cent from mold decay had been reported from London. Brazil has been exporting to Europe for only two or three years, and had hoped to send at least 600,000 boxes this year. Brazil can produce enough oranges to feed all Europe after they learn to grow, pack and ship their fruits successfully. One careful observer remarked that California growers must maintain rigidly their present high grades and standards as only this way can they hold their present markets.

Will Rogers Finds American Styles Fascinating in French Reception Scene of "They Had To See Paris"

Beautiful women, gorgeous gowns and gleaming shoulders in an exquisite setting make for eye appeal in the big reception scene at the chateau in "They Had To See Paris," which begins a three-day engagement Tuesday at the Sequoia Theatre. Will Rogers is starred.

The women who enacted the roles of royal personages were carefully selected, only those of aristocratic appearance and bearing finally chosen after hundreds had been interviewed at the casting office.

The gowns were designed and made under the direction of Sophie Wachner, costume designer and supervisor of women's wardrobe at the Fox West Coast studios. They are creations that are likely to fascinate every woman who sees and hears this adaptation of Homer Croy's immensely popular story, the dialog for which was written by Owen Davis, Sr., dean of American playwrights.

It is rather paradoxical that the costumes worn in "They Had To See Paris" were created in the center of the American picture industry rather than in the French metropolis, but this fact is added proof of the contention made by leading fashion magazines that Hollywood has lately become the fashion center of the universe, taking that honor away from Paris.

Rogers, who portrays the character of Pike Peters of Oklahoma, who becomes suddenly rich through the agency of an oil well and whose

All the members of the club are working hard on the projects which will lead them up to graduate Friendly Indians and membership in the Lincoln Pioneer Club which is limited to boys who come up through this program.

The boys are working toward procuring a banner for the club on which the two "coups" that they have won in inter-tribe competition will be placed. By winning first place at the football meet last Saturday at Stanford they added the third trophy to their collection.

Thirty-seven boys are now enrolled in the club group.

17th District P.-T. A. Meets Friday In San Mateo

Forty percent of all those mental-ly ill could have been cured had their defects been detected and treated in early childhood. Detecting these defects is part of the great work of the Mental Hygiene Department of the P.-T. A., according to Mrs. F. J. Connelman of Stockton, in her talk before the 17th District P.-T. A., Friday, November 15, in Central School in San Mateo during a regional conference.

Mrs. E. A. Benson of San Francisco who conducted the conference, stated that the congress was now emphasizing the educational side of P.-T. A. work.

Miss Victoria Roussel, president of the 17th District, briefly discussed study circles.

Mrs. E. T. Shaleben of San Francisco stressed the importance and necessity of summer round-ups in fitting children for active school life. Mrs. Weiser of San Francisco spoke on parliamentary procedure and said it was just old-fashioned courtesy.

The state office is a service station and the helpful literatures on hand are the commodities handled and available to every member, according to Mrs. W. H. Woods, executive secretary in the state office.

Mrs. W. A. Price of the state, said: "Parents are now held responsible for the misbehavior of their children. We are in a transition process, going from the immediate past generation to the immediate future one. Mrs. Price urged that parents lend an attentive ear and an understanding heart when their children speak."

Mrs. W. J. Hayes of Burlingame, state program chairman, speaking on the "Wise Use of Leisure," urged the members to occupy their leisure by studying and developing the ideals of the P.-T. A. as embodied in the seven objectives.

A short business meeting preceded the conference. Miss Victoria Roussel, president, presided.

Mrs. J. E. Baughn, reported the Redwood Student Aid Shop was Realty Board To Ask Action On Improvement Of Pulgas Rd.

Adopt Schedule Of Rates; To Study Appraisal

A largely attended meeting of the Redwood City District Real Estate board was held Tuesday evening at the office of Emmett Donnelly and A. D. Walsh, 2090 Broadway. At this meeting the question of adopting a uniform schedule of fees as proposed by the California Real Estate Association was discussed. The board finally agreed to adopt the schedule as already in use by 49 boards in California. A few changes however, which are made necessary by local conditions.

An interesting talk on appraisal was given by Fred Drake, who stated that it was important that each realtor be able to appraise property. A series of instructions on appraising will be given by Drake for members of the real estate board. These will be commenced at the meeting of the board on December 17.

Alameda de las Pulgas. Drake also opened a discussion of the present status of the Alameda de las Pulgas. The matter is one of interest to all realtors of this section, as the improvement of this road has been proposed many times, but the matter has laid dormant for a long time. It is an improvement which will have an important effect upon property values in this section. The board took the stand that the road should be improved and extended to Jefferson avenue. In order to start some action Drake asked that William Dusel, president of the board, appoint a committee to meet with the board of supervisors on the morning of December 2. In the evening of the same day this committee will meet with the Redwood City council.

Dusel appointed Charles Lambert, Henry Witte and Emmett Donnelly on this committee. The roads and

A meeting of local presidents and district vice-presidents will be held Nov. 22 at 2 p. m. in Central school in San Mateo.

The next district meeting is scheduled for Dec. 5 in the Central school. Mrs. Gifford will be the speaker and presidents' reports will be called for.

COUNTING THOUSANDS OF PARTS BY CLEVER WEIGHING DEVICE

Greatly Simplifies Important Problem of Large Scale Production

COUNTING by weighing is one of the methods used at the Western Electric Company to keep track of the enormous numbers of small parts which are handled daily. As suppliers to the entire Bell System, the Western Electric must maintain an enormous manufacturing schedule, and keep large stocks of parts and apparatus on hand. In doing both of these much counting is necessary.

A simple yet ingenious method has been worked out for determining the number of parts from their weight. The obvious method, of course, would be to count and weigh a few parts, then weigh the entire lot and use arithmetic to get the answer. Instead, by using some of the parts themselves as weights, the simple principle of the beam scale allows the work to be greatly simplified. The containers holding the parts to be counted are put on the main scale platform, which is set level with the floor, and the operator sets a certain adjustment on the scale to compensate for the weight of the containers used. He then transfers enough of the small parts to the pan on the scale arm to bring the scale into balance. All that is necessary then is to multiply the number of parts thus transferred by 100, or whatever the ratio for the particular scale is, and the answer is the total number of parts in the containers on the scale platform.

This method of counting is so accurate that it can also be used in making up for shipment, packages of many kinds of parts.

Its request for action on the improvement of this highway.

COMMITTEE STUDIES HIGHWAY WIDENING

Report Filed With County Supervisors Asks Co-operation of Board in Determining Width

The board of supervisors on Monday instructed County Engineer George A. Kneese to make a preliminary survey to determine the cost of widening El Camino Real from Belmont to the southern limit of San Mateo county. This action was taken on motion of Supervisors Poole and Hickey and at the request of Attorney Paul A. McCarthy of Redwood City, representing the Association for the Widening of El Camino Real, recently formed at a meeting held in Menlo Park.

Attorney McCarthy presented the following facts to the supervisors Monday in connection with the contemplated project:

The Town of Menlo Park has been desirous for some time of determining the permanent ultimate width of El Camino Real so that it could establish by ordinance set-back lines pursuant to recommendations of its planning commission and thereby establish with the least expense and inconvenience to property owners, a uniform property frontage up this highway.

Realizing that the alignment of this highway is a common problem to all of the municipalities and unincorporated parts of the county through which the highway runs, meetings were called and held at the instance of the planning commission of Menlo Park and were attended by council men, engineers and other persons of the various communities south of the city of San Mateo, and at these meetings this problem was given consideration.

These meetings were addressed by Col. John H. Skeggs, County Engineer George A. Kneese, and others who furnished technical and accurate information.

As a result of these meetings there has been formed an Association for the Widening of El Camino Real. The president is Henry Witte and the secretary is Daniel R. Stafford, both of Redwood City. The association consists of representatives from each of the five municipalities, to-wit, Belmont, San Carlos, Redwood City, Atherton and Menlo Park, and the supervisors of the second and third townships in which this portion of the highway is located, and County Engineer Kneese, members of municipal planning commissions, town trustees, councilmen, property owners and other citizens interested in this proposition.

In view of the fact that El Camino Real is part of the State Highway system, the association will work in consultation with the State Highway Commission, and particularly with Col. John H. Skeggs, a representative of the commission here. It was the unanimous opinion of all who attended a recent meeting that the first thing to be done is to make a survey of the present El Camino Real and of the land abutting thereon so as to determine what, if any, improvement could be made in the highway by widening or straightening it or changing any grades now existing on the highway. It is the belief of many that this highway must ultimately be widened to a standard width of 100 feet including sidewalks on one or both sides, according to the needs in the various portions of it. The State Highway Commission is now widening the highway to this width from San Francisco Creek to the northern boundary of Palo Alto to Santa Clara. This association will confine its activities to that portion of the highway from San Francisco Creek to the southern boundary of the city of San Mateo. A unified plan for the development of this highway must be had. It might well have been undertaken ten years ago, it is pointed out, and if so, much expense that will now be necessary could have been eliminated. To postpone it any longer will greatly increase the cost and trouble of the work that must ultimately be undertaken.

The association considered that it would be reasonable and appropriate to request the county to provide the preliminary survey which will be the basis of whatever action may be further suitable by the supervisors and councils of the various cities and towns on the highway. The county has undertaken the expense of surveys of

The Biggest and Best Job on Earth

And what IS the "biggest and best job on earth?"

"PARENTHOOD—the raising of happy, healthy children!" answers a world of proud mothers and fathers.

And THEY ARE RIGHT!

PARENTHOOD is the "biggest and best job on earth!"

And CHILDREN are the most valuable property of our community.

Strange idea, isn't it?—but it is true.

The acid test of any community is, "Is this a good place in which to bring up a child?"

"More and better babies" is a safe and good slogan for the betterment of any community.

Of course we know that this is the best town in the world for a baby to be born in, but even the BEST can be BETTERED.

Many serious ills in after life are the result of child sicknesses. Failure in after life—even a large share of criminality—depends, to a great degree, on child habit and training.

Children's sicknesses are practically all contagious. This is a community responsibility. It is a matter on which no home can stand alone.

And, although raising children is primarily a job for the parent and the home, IT IS ALSO A SCHOOL, CHURCH, and CIVIC RESPONSIBILITY.

Every baby is important to its own parents, but it is also important and valuable to us all and to our community.

Every baby should be weighed, measured and examined for known and unknown defects. They should be taken to the doctor when they are "perfectly well." We should be working to spare them future illnesses, and should guard them against diphtheria, typhoid, smallpox and other preventable sicknesses.

Every child should have a complete physical examination at least once a year—teeth, eyes, throat, legs, feet—every part of the body should be examined.

We all want to give our babies a fair start toward a useful and happy life.

The baby of today is our citizen of tomorrow—and every business and professional man and woman is interested in helping the mothers and fathers of this community with the "biggest and best job on earth"—raising happy, healthy children in

Unfair Triumph

Senator Snoot at a Washington reception said of a new Bolshevik triumph in Russia:

"This triumph reminds me of burly Mr. Strawbridge. He bragged: 'The man insulted me, he cursed me, and, fierce as he was, I knocked him down.'"

"No," said burly Mr. Strawbridge, with my car."

Take Care of Your Kidneys!

One should not neglect kidney and bladder irregularities.

Too many people sacrifice health by failing to heed the early danger signals of kidney disorders. Even minor irregularities should be dealt with promptly.

A drowsy, listless feeling; lameness and stiffness; constant backache and bladder irregularities are often timely warnings. Don't neglect them.

To promote normal kidney action and assist your kidneys in cleansing your blood of poisonous wastes, use Doan's Pills. Recommended the world over.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

By JOHN CLARENCE FUNK
A. M., Sc. D.
Director of Public Health Education,
State of Pennsylvania.

No Need to Be Ashamed

THE other day a health officer tucked up a scarlet-fever sign on a man's house. When night came the owner tore it down. The next evening he paid a fine of fifty dollars and costs for interfering with a health law!

It seems that this particular householder was ashamed of the sign and somehow concluded that he was personally discredited for having it there—a silly notion, of course.

Disease is no respecter of persons. Like rain, it falls upon the good and the bad, the rich and the poor, the wise and the foolish. Therefore, unless one has thoughtlessly or deliberately done something to direct illness to one's self or others, there is certainly nothing about which to blush. In other words, it may be hard luck to have a communicable disease in one's home, but it most emphatically is not a crime.

Epidemics are serious, costly and deadly things. Quarantine is designed to limit the spread of contagion and usually satisfactorily fulfills its purpose. In fact, it is the most successful public health weapon that can be employed when a communicable disease asserts itself.

It would be foolish to say that this control method is not a decided inconvenience to the family involved. But the law of the greatest good to the greatest number must always prevail. Consequently, irrespective of temporary inconvenience or desire, under no circumstances "crash" a quarantine sign. This applies equally to the "outs," as well as to the "ins."

Vibrating for Health

IT WAS naturally to be expected that this being an electrical age, mechanical exercisers would eventually make their appearance. And so it has come to pass that electricity, in the form of vibrating machines, are now literally taking the heart out of exercise.

The value of such a device to those whose heart action is impaired unquestionably is a real one, all other things being equal. And for many lazy and extra stout people who absolutely refuse to take their exercise by way of physical exertion, it will also be of some benefit.

However, generally speaking, this worthy machine, like every other treatment agency, must be handled with common sense. It is quite conceivable, for example, that a person suffering from a sub-acute case of appendicitis would not be very much helped by having the abdomen thus mechanically massaged. Indeed, there may be any number of stumbling conditions which would be better off without the use of such a machine.

Then, too, there is a tendency to overdo the thing in the desire to massage off fat; and in this way deliberately disregard the sensible operating rules set down by the manufacturers of these contrivances.

It perhaps might be a wise procedure, therefore, to use the vibrator only after the physician advises that your physical condition will be benefited by so doing.

Present-day civilization is not notable for its exercise producing tendencies, which often blinds many to the very fundamental fact that the human system was constructed on the basis of sweat-producing work and a real use of the body muscles. And frankly, nothing has ever been, or will be, devised that can fully and entirely be substituted satisfactorily for it.

If well, and desiring to do so, use a vibrator. But don't forget that your body needs the good old-fashioned garden variety combination of daily fresh air and actual exercise also. If sick, or near sick, vibrate for health only under a physician's order.

In any event, keep the vibrators in their proper place by not overindulging in their use. Treat them with respect and they will respect you. Vibrate sensibly.

Great Estates Linked With Scottish History

One of the oldest and most historic estates in Scotland, is Gadhgirth, in Ayrshire, six miles from Ayr. For centuries it was the home of the Chalmers, great chieftains of Scotland, from whom Doctor Chalmers, the famous divine, is said to have claimed descent. From an account written by the sheriff of Ayr in 1359, "the farthing lands of Gadhgirth formed part of the royal domains" or "King's Kyle," and were held by the Chalmers family from possibly the Twelfth century. According to the authority of Robertson the historian, Reginald De Camera had a charter of the lands after the battle of Bannockburn from Robert the Bruce, although this does not, however, appear among the published charters of that monarch's reign. The first castle was a place of great strength and jutted out into the River Ayr, while in the second, which occupied the same site as the present mansion house. John Knox dispensed the sacrament, and Queen Mary of Scots spent a night there when fleeing after the battle of Langside. The estate extends to close on 400 acres, and includes three farms.

Apostles' Creed?

This is the name of a church creed supposed to be an epitome of the Scriptural doctrine taught by the apostles. It was introduced in the Latin church in the Eleventh century, but a somewhat similar formula dates back to the Second century.—Pathfinder Magazine.

What's Next?

"Listen, doc," said the skeptical patient, "I've had my teeth out and I've had my tonsils out, so that leaves you one guess."—Detroit News.

Wildcat Football a la Hanley

The name of Hanley is closely associated with the victories and traditions of the varsity of Northwestern university. There are three of them, all brothers, on that notable football aggregation this season. They are shown here talking it over: Dick Hanley, head grid coach, at left; and his brother, Pat, one of his assistants, at right; give Lee, the "kid" brother, the deep lowdown on football a la Hanley.

Longest Football Sprint in History

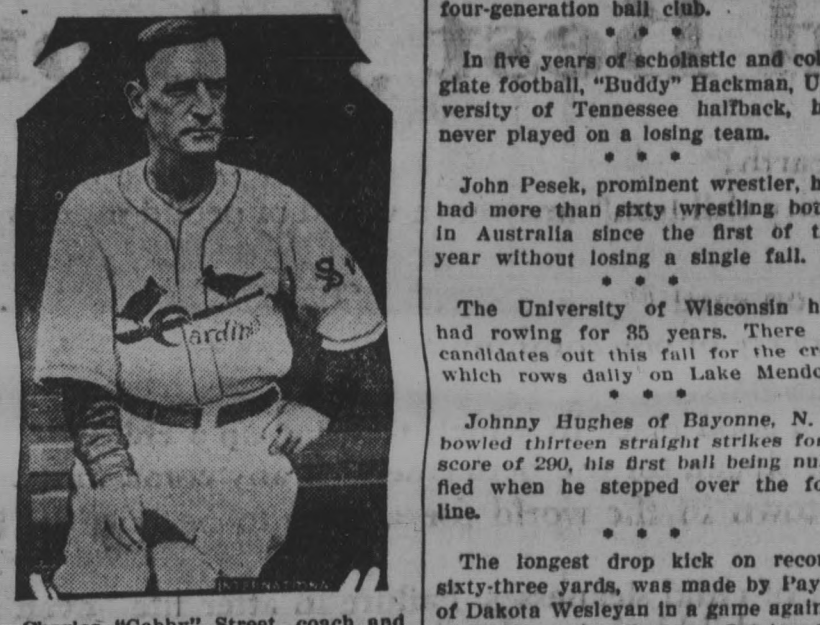

Thomas Mosser of Newark, N. J., made the longest football run in the history of the game. Mosser was downed on the two-mile line.

He was driving past Ashland stadium, where a game was in progress between two high school teams. One of the strong-kneed scholastic stars punted the ball over the wall and it landed in Mosser's car.

Mosser knew that in a base-ball game, whenever a ball goes over the fence or into the stands, it belongs to whoever gets it.

But the high school players came after their ball and saw it disappear down the street in Mosser's car. They called a patrolman, who mounted a collegiate roadster and went in pursuit. Two miles later the policeman caught Mosser.

"Gabby" Promoted

Charles "Gabby" Street, coach and scout for the St. Louis Cardinals, has been named manager of the team by President Sam Breadon. He succeeds Bill McKechnie, who signed to manage the Braves. Street, for years, was Walter Johnson's catcher at Washington.

Gridiron Star Gives Pants for Alma Mater

Butch Skierkowski rivaled the legendary gridiron hero who was willing to "die for dear old Rutgers," when he gave his pants for dear Old St. Bonaventure in a game at Olean, N. Y., with St. Vincent.

Skierkowski broke away for a 45 yard run and what appeared to be a certain touchdown, only to have Kunkler, St. Vincent safety man, grab him by the pants. "Butch" continued his efforts to get away and finally broke loose—leaving most of his pants behind.

Despite his lack of attire Skierkowski resumed his jaunt toward the goal, but the delay had enabled St. Vincent tacklers to catch up and he was downed on the 10 yard line.

The game was delayed while the embarrassed Skierkowski exchanged pants with a St. Bonaventure substitute.

Stump Stumps Himself in Salt Lake Contest

It is almost with monotonous regularity that stories of Bill Stump make their way out into the world. The eccentric infielder was always up to something. Here's another one to add to the list.

While playing shortstop out at Salt Lake City, Stump would stand up and yell over to the second baseman any time during the game: "Hey, what town are we in?"

"This is Salt Lake," the second baseman would reply. "That's right," Stump would remember. "How many out?"

"Why, you crazy sap, there's two out."

"That's right. If there were three out we'd be on the bench, wouldn't we?"

Ideal Caddies

The ideal caddy has been found among the Stoney Indians, near Banff, in northwest Canada, which is not far from Vancouver.

Many of them, some old Braves, are employed as caddies, and their impassiveness and keen eyesight have won them popularity among the golfers.

They never smile at a dub shot, never speak unless spoken to, and the caddy-masters say they have not lost a ball.

Waddell Was Greatest

Who was the greatest southpaw of all time?

The question recently was put to Connie Mack, who has handled four of the greatest in Rube Waddell, Ed- die Plank, Robert Moses Grove and Rube Walberg. Without taking any positive stand in so personal a debate, Connie nevertheless seems to favor Waddell. "The Rube, when he was right, was a wonder," said Connie, as he recalled some of the actions of the eccentric twirler.

AL MARSTERS IS OUT OF FOOTBALL

Noted Dartmouth Quarter-back Hurt in Yale Game.

College football has lost one of its most brilliant stars and Dartmouth is robbed of the services of its greatest backfield ace with the announcement that Al Marsters has played his last game of intercollegiate football.

The announcement followed an X-ray examination of Marsters by Dr. John Gile in which it was disclosed that the quarterback was suffering from a fracture of the vertebrae when he hobbled from the bowl during the Yale game. He will be in the infirmary for the next month while his teammates battle Brown, Cornell and the Navy. The injury was officially described as a fracture of the right transverse process at the third and fourth lumbar vertebrae, but is not expected to have any permanent effect.

Messages of regret from all points of the country were pouring in on Marsters.

The Naval academy has been asked to take part in international athletics through the request of the Anglo-American baseball club of London, England, that it send the midshipman baseball team across the Atlantic for a game with that club's nine.

Lieutenant Commander F. G. Reliance, graduate manager of athletics, has replied that the only chance of such a game lies in the practice cruise of the midshipmen going in that direction next summer. If that is the case, the game probably will be arranged.

Lewisburg (Pa.) is the seat of Bucknell university, which has a beautiful concrete bowl commemorating the memory of Christy Mathewson, one of Bucknell's most famous men, but oddly enough there is no memorial of any kind in the Pennsylvania coal regions to Hugh Jennings, who came out of Pittston to become one of the great leaders of baseball. A stadium project launched by civic organizations in Scranton as a tribute to Hugh's memory fell flat.

Baseball offers a reminder each year that honest sport is a help in preventing a public from taking the world too seriously. It gives opportunity for enthusiasm without resentments and stands invariably for the spirit of fair play.

While the amount of revenue from football at Yale is not mentioned in the annual report issued recently by George Farnley, treasurer of the athletic association, the indications are that the figure went over the million mark again.

In two previous years the gross revenues in sports exceeded a million dollars. For the year ending June 30, 1928, the gross sports figure was $1,100,280, out of which was paid $383,100 to visiting teams, which left gross net revenues from sports of $734,170. This compares with a gross net of $733,230.75 in the 1929 report after payments to visiting teams.

Coaching rivalry passed the boiling point recently at the University of Cincinnati. An improvement in the Cincinnati backfield was attributed by the university publication to a new assistant backfield coach. The head backfield coach, resenting the praise of his subordinate, assaulted the editor of the paper, who swore out a warrant for his arrest. President Snider of the university, arbitrated, however, and the young journalist withdrew his charges.

Dr. John L. Lavan, former National and American league shortstop, and later manager of the Kansas City Blues, in the American association, has gone in for aviation. He has been appointed assistant flight surgeon in St. Louis, Mo.

Father Lumpkin, the big fullback who dropped out and lessened this year's chances of Georgia Tech, is playing for the Portsmouth (Ohio) professional team this fall.

Jack Ryan, assistant to Dick Hanley at Northwestern, is not numbered among the coaches who wish to swing football closer to an exact science by cutting down the penalty that may follow in the wake of a fumble.

The New York Evening Post quotes leading football coaches of the country as opposing suggestions that the captain of an eleven be given responsibility for the direction of his team during a game and that the coach take a seat in the stands. The recent Carnegie report on college football or baseball players has opportunity to exhibit little more initiative than a chessman, and in other quarters football has been referred to as a "coach-ridden" sport.

Roger Wethered, former amateur golf champion of England, led a team representing the Jokers in a match of singles and foursomes against Oxford university players at Southfield, near Oxford, recently, and his side won by 11 to 3.

Gus Sonnenberg, wrestling champion, claims that his shoulders have never been pinned to a mat, his only defeat being the result of a dive out of the ring, his head colliding with a cement floor.

The Notre Dame band, which numbers 83 pieces, is one of the snappiest college musical organizations in the country. The band accompanies the team on its engagements away from home, and on the campus it is an important factor in many student activities.

The boy in the eastern university, whose distant cousins turn up for the big game and expect good tickets, wishes that more effective work might be done by the committee on football relations.

Girl Fights Big Handicap

MANY a girl would give up in despair when she found herself snubbed in school and unpopular in college, but not so Mrs. Norma Kussel Jones of 1567 Cramer Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

"When I was seventeen I went away to college," says Mrs. Jones. "Freda, my room-mate, was a very popular girl. Soon she asked to have her room changed. It seems I kept her awake at night, I slept so restlessly. No one knows how I suffered."

"One day one of my teachers found me sobbing. 'Why,' she said, 'sometimes sluggish circulation causes restless sleep. Why don't you try Nujol?'"

"In two weeks Nujol had begun clearing out the poisons in my body, my skin had a clear healthy appearance, and everything looked brighter. 'What have you been doing to yourself?' asked my room-mate. 'You are a different girl.' The days and years that followed were filled with every activity and not long ago Freda was maid of honor at my wedding. That's what Nujol did for me!"

Such a simple way to health and happiness! Your doctor will tell you that Nujol contains no medicines or drugs—it is simply bodily lubrication—harmless, normal, and it works easily so you will be regular as clockwork. You can get a bottle in sealed package at any drug store for what you would pay for two or three sodas.

Get a bottle today and try it. If you are like most other people Nujol will make you brighter, happier, more able to succeed. Don't put off good health! Start being well this very day.
